

DATA FUSION TECHNOLOGIES, INC. AND SEQUENTIAL CAPITAL PARTNERS COMPLETE EQUITY RECAPITALIZATION

January 2011

Data Fusion Technologies, Inc. recently completed a recapitalization of its equity with private investor Sequential Capital Partners. The transaction will enable Data Fusion to continue its tradition of delivering best in class information technology solutions to clients in the legal and professional services sectors. In connection with the transaction, Sequential's founding Partner, Todd Lawrence, and Director Ben Knoll will join the Data Fusion management team. Data Fusion's founder Larry Laing and President Alan Corcoran will remain with the business in their current capacities.

Laing summarized the transaction as "a win-win for all stakeholders, including customers, employees and owners. In considering a recapitalization, our goal was to preserve the best qualities of the company while laying the foundation for future growth. Sequential's long term, strategic approach and expertise in the information services domain will make them a value-added participant in the next chapter of Data Fusion's evolution."

"We're proud to partner with a company as successful as Data Fusion," says Sequential's Lawrence. "Over the past twenty years, Larry and his team have developed unique capabilities to address the information technology challenges confronted by professional services firms. Customers have come to depend on Data Fusion as a market leader and trusted provider of expertise and solutions. I am very impressed with what the Data Fusion team has accomplished and look forward to participating in the company's continued growth and successes."

Alan Corcoran, Data Fusion's President, added "Data Fusion has earned a strong reputation in the Legal vertical by focusing on serving clients well and anticipating customer needs. We are committed to continuing this tradition as we explore new services and markets. Sequential's investment will help ensure that we have the resources required to sustain the growth and innovation our customers have come to expect."
